

S.M.A.R.T. CARE for Stray Animals

Stray animals are in a very vulnerable position and very often have to rely on the kindness and empathy of people to have access to basics, such as food, water or shelter.

Here are simple ways how you can help stray animals:

Shelter

Help the stray animals by providing/allowing shelter, especially in cold months in order to survive winter.

Water

Make sure that stray animals have access to clean and fresh water, especially in summer months when they face danger of dehydration (please do not give cats or kittens milk, it will give them diarrhea).

Food

Keep leftover meat or fish and feed it to stray animals at a convenient and safe place for the animals to find. Encourage to share the responsibility for food with neighbors for your local strays.
